Principal fisheries: Brook trout

Silver Lake, a small pond near Popham Beach in Phippsburg, was chemically reclaimed in 1966 to remove competing fish species and permit more intensive management for trout. Brook trout have been stocked on several occasions, but summertime water temperatures typically reach critical levels for trout management.

Beginning in 2002, the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife began stocking legal-size brook trout in the fall to provide additional opportunities for wintertime anglers. Some of these trout may hold over through the winter and provide fishing opportunities in the spring.

Access is restricted to permissive trespass across privately owned property.
